

Mongolian Buddhism in Practice

International Conference on Mongolian Buddhism

April 24–25, 2017 – Budapest

Organized by

Ágnes Birtalan and Krisztina Teleki

Eötvös Loránd University

- Department of Mongol and Inner Asian Studies
- Research Centre for Mongol Studies
- Budapest Centre for Buddhist Studies

Hungarian Academy of Sciences

- Research Centre for the Humanities, Institute of Ethnology

Embassy of Mongolia in Hungary

Workshop venue

Eötvös Loránd University, Hungary
1088 Budapest, Múzeum krt. 4-6

Workshop languages

English, Mongolian, Russian

More information

- innerasia.hu/event/mongolian-buddhism-in-practice-conference-2017
- facebook.com/events/722365314590766

Following the success of the workshop “Mongolian Buddhism: Past, Present and Future” in April 2015, the second international forum “Mongolian Buddhism in Practice” will be held on 24–25 April 2017. This forum is for international scholars and Mongolian abbots and monks to present their work on different fields of Mongolian Buddhist practice. Presentations will cover many aspects of Mongolian Buddhism including history, development, education, rites, religious texts, religious dances, connections with nature, and many other approaches of old and contemporary practices. The workshop will focus not only on the Buddhism of Mongols living in the present area of Mongolia, but will cross the border to the beliefs and practices of Mongols living in China and Russia.

The conference program will be available soon on the website and Facebook event page of the conference at the following addresses:

- innerasia.hu/event/mongolian-buddhism-in-practice-conference-2017
- facebook.com/events/722365314590766

